

We are building a better future using
American innovation.

As a leader in technological innovation, we know what it takes to get our country ready for the future.

Our scientists and engineers are devoted to building a smarter, faster Internet.

We employ nearly 300,000 Americans. And we are investing billions of dollars to build next generation fiber optic networks.

Our first name was always American.
But you know us as AT&T.
